RESILIENT

Kingsfold children will leave having built up resilience. They need the opportunities to become resilient to be able to deal with different challenges across the curriculum and in the wider world. They will develop the ability to solve problems without giving up. Developing the skills to work independently and become resourceful will be key to this.

Resilient

INQUISITIVE

Kingsfold children will leave being inquisitive. They will question the way the world was in the past, is now and begin to think about how it will possibly look in the future. The children will look beyond the local community and question both local and global issues. They will be expressive and creative in their nature and recognise the need to be individual. They will value diversity and celebrate British values.

CHALLENGED

Kingsfold children will leave school having been challenged. Children will be motivated by success from challenging themselves. This attitude and success will be praised and encouraged. They will set personal goals to aspire to. Curriculum subjects will allow children the chance to aim high. Kingsfold children will leave school accepting challenges and seeing these as a positive. Their ambition will be boundless.
